

DENNIS ZIEMIENSKI
LASSETER FAMILY WINERY LABEL ARTIST

Glen Ellen resident Dennis Ziemienski is an award-winning graduate cum laude of the Bay Area's prestigious California College of Arts and Crafts. He has been internationally known as an illustrator and designer for 30 years, creating strong and richly colored images that borrow much of their inspiration from early 20th century paintings and posters. His travels in Europe have given Dennis an affinity for the architecture, lifestyle and light of the Mediterranean, and his time in Glen Ellen affords him a deep appreciation for Sonoma Valley's timeless beauty.

Nancy and John Lasseter were already fans of Dennis' work when they established the winery, having purchased several of his works at local art events. When the time came time to update the Lasseter Family Winery label, they reached out to Dennis, commissioning him to paint five images – one for each of their wines. The result was a series of striking, evocative paintings, in which Dennis was able to tell the story of each wine and to capture the essence of the Lasseter Family's winemaking philosophy. The Lasseters are proud to feature Dennis' work on every bottle.
